THE EXECUTION OF LI AYAU.

It is many years since a capital sentence was carried out in Hongkong, the last being in 1882. and when the coolie Li Ayau was formally sentenced to death by his Honor Chief Instice Fielding Clarke, at the last Criminal Sessions, it was a debated point whether or not the Executive Council would allow the law to take its course ; not that there was a scintilla of doubt as to the man's guilt and the justness of the sentence. The respondent was asked whether he had but that it seemed to have become an unwritten law of the Island that in none but the gravest cases should the death penalty be applied. As already recorded, he simply professed his innocence, and although accompanied by a priest (a native), he appeared to concern himself more with the security of the boards on which he stood than with ther e around him. The hangman, with the air of a man who had been there before, quickly and humanely adjusted the cap and rope, and at a given signal the trap was "sprung" and in a fraction of a second the condemned man's soul was in Shadow-land and his body at the end of an eight-foot drop. Death was instantaneous, although the criminal was but between seven and eight stone in weight. His pulse had even ceased to beat a few seconds after the bolt had been drawn.

The execution was conducted in private ; only the necessary gapl officials, the Captain Superintendent of Police and the Press representatives being present.

An inquest was held at "the Gaol to-day on the body of Li Ayau. Mr. H. E. Wodehouse, coroner, presided, and the jury consisted of Messrs. A. G. Aliken, M. F. Barradas, and John Jones, gaol warder, stated that Li Ayau

He was accordingly executed on the 8th August, at 6 s.m., in the gaol yard, opposite the offices, by virtue of warrant dated 1st August, in the presence of the gaol officers and the press. The public were not admitted. James Alfred Lowson, acting medical officer of Victoria Gaol, said that on the 8th August be accompanied the superintendent of the gaol to Li Ayan's cell, saw the prisoner pinioned, and then went with him to the scaffold and saw the rope adjusted. He fell eight feet. Witness spproached him immediately after the drop, and found him quite dead. The pulse was still beating slightly, but life was practically extinct

LONDON, July 15th. The Home Rule Bill will be got through the House of Commons on or about August 21st Under ordinary circumstances a fortnight more would wind up the business of the session. The game of the Unionists is, however, to protract the session, despite heat and exhaustion, for weeks after the House of Lords shall have rejected the Bill. They intend to accomplish their purpose by means of endless meetings and divisions on the financial votes. They hope thus to reduce the Government majority to the minimum and eventually to drive the Ministry to a premature dissolution by their prolonged brawling and bullying. The mutiny of the Parnellites under Mr. John Redmond against the financial proposals will probably be subdued. The means, as usual, will be concessions from the Government. TWO NATIVE CONVERTS REPORTED KILLED.

The Hankow correspondent of the Shanghai Mercury, writing on the 29th ulto., says:-Tracy, who has just been promoted. The Intelligence was received here to-day of another anti-foreign riot at a place about 100 miles from Hankow, called Yen Kla-wen, not far from the large town of Mien-yang, and situated between the Han and Yang rivers. The affair took place on the 25th, but we have so far received only the barest outlines of what happened. All that the friendly messengers, who brought the news to Hankow, state is that two native converts were killed, and the French priest of the district was barbarously insulted and beaten, barely escaping with his life. The priest does not reside at Yen Kis-wen, but chanced to be there on the day of the riot.

It was not the people of the district who created the trouble but some strangers from a distance, aided by a number of well-known bad characters who came from Micn-yang. The chapel was burnt down and the little mission property ruthlessly destroyed, the inmates being forced to fly for their lives.
